Enrolment conditions

Enrolments into this course are fully funded by the National Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisation (NACCHO).

The funding is only available to support individuals working within the ACCHO sector and is limited to those able to administer vaccines as part of their scope of practice. This course has limited places and enrolment is essential. Participants will be required to attend the full week of face to face learning. Benchmarque Group reserve the right to decline registrations that do not meet conditions of enrolment.

The Immunisation Course for Health Professionals is delivered face-to-face in small, supportive groups, led by two experienced and approachable trainers. Our classrooms provide a culturally safe learning environment, with a strong emphasis on individual guidance and encouragement throughout all practical skills activities—no matter your level of experience.

Participants complete the full five days of training in the classroom. This course is ideal for AHPRA registered health professionals able to add immunisation to their scope of practice and build confidence and competence across all aspects of vaccine administration. After completing the course, students continue to have access to course resources and receive ongoing support from both AHCWA and Benchmarque Group.

The course is accredited by the National Association of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Workers and Health Practitioners (NAATSIHWP) and Health Education Services Australia (HESA).
